Useability Script and Results

Tests conducted by Trystan Wilson
Participants: Dominic Wilson and Charles Wilson

Scenario

You are someone who desires to get fit. Your friend recommended an application called "Pump-It!", which had been released two months prior. Out of curiosity, you decided to download the application. You have already created an account, and are now busy exploring the features of the application.

Tasks

Task 1
Search for other people's workouts! Go to the "Search" menu and take a look at someone else's workout.

Task 2
Create a workout! Head to the "Create Workout" menu and create a workout consisting of all the options under "Simple." Name your workout "My First Workout."

Task 3
Now it's time to start your workout! Head to the "Start Workout" menu and start "My First Workout!"

After you have completed these tasks, please take notes about your experience:

List anything you would change about the application (at least two things):

Dominic Wilson
- UI is a tad bit cluttered
- Opening menu should be formatted as a list for ease of use

Charles Wilson
- Label the exercieses pages
- Mabey a 20-30 second notification on workout times ending
- Tab for instructor profiles

List what you would keep the same about this application (at least two things):

Dominic Wilson
- The variety of options is fine for a launch version of an app.
- Add more customizable aesthetic options
